System Benefits

Creating a stable environment free of problems that cause physical and psychological weakness for society in general and for students in particular. This is done through a modern electronic system that has positive impact on the individual and society.

Developing the role of the Guidance and Counseling Department and the Social Counsellor to keep abreast of developments in the problems presented by users and students through modern technology.

The impact of using the system on school and user

On school:

- Easy communication between the social counselor and the bullying students using HD audio and video.
- Continuous monitoring of the psychological state of the students who submitted their reports on the problems they face.
- Improving the achievement level of students and thus increasing the school's distinction from other schools.

On user:

- Reducing the problems resulting from bullying that individuals are subjected to, thus stabilizing users and spreading love among them.
- Students' families following up with the school's specialists on a continuous basis on the problems facing their children, thus strengthening the relationship between parents and their children.
